BOSTON CONCERT HERE WILL GIVE NATIONAL HYMN

"The Star-Spangled Banner" will be played by the Boston Symphony Orchestra at its concert in the National Theater here Tuesday afternoon, Word was received from Boston today that the orchestra will play the national anthem at all of its concerts Announcement that "The Star-Spangled Banner" would be played by the orchestra here greatly relieved the minds of a number of prominent Washingtonians, who were much wrought up over the refusal of Dr. Karl Muck, the German conductor of the orchestra, to have anything to do m the best information avail-From the best information available today, it is understood that Major Henry L. Higginson, of Boston, who is sponsor for the orchestra, has not yet accepted the resignation of Dr. Muck as leader. Dr. Muck laid down his, baton and resigned yesterday after playing the national anthem at a the Boston concert.

It is apparent that there is no intention to disband the famous organization, and that it will play out its scheduled winter tour.

Department of Justice agents are investigating the case of Dr. Muck. If he is found to be actually an enemy of the United States he will be interested officials of the desert. enemy of the United States he will be interned, officials of the department said today. The fact that Dr. Muck directed the playing of the National Anthem yesterday has not halted the investigation. U.S. RESTAURANTS IN DISTRICT URGED ON COMMISSION

Establishment by the Federa Government of restaurants and eating houses to care for the thousands of persons brought to the city by war exigencies was recommended to the District Commissioners today by the District Council of Defense.

The question arose in the consideration by the commission of the housing problem. It is considered equally as important to provide adequate restaurant facilities, William H. Baldwin, chairman, said, as to provide homes for the Government workers.

Will Not Compete

It is not purposed, he said, by lower prices, to enter into competition with other eating places. petition with other eating places.

Mr. Baldwin suggested that the plans could be worked out by the quartermaster's department of the War Department along the lines followed by the Government in the establishment of restaurants on the Panama canal. Whether the recommendation will be forwarded by the Commissioners to the War Department will be decided next week.

Wauld Event Police Commissioners

Would Extend Police Census. The commission also recommended that the police in taking the biennial census ascertain the number of vacant rooms available for Government workplace them on rental as a patriotic duty. The commission, he said, is as-pecially desirous of finding homes for women and girls.

The resignation from the council of Charles F. Nesbit was announced to-day. Mr. Nesbit, it was stated, finds that his duties as commissioner of military and naval insurance occupy his full time and attention.

SHIPPING BOARD CLERK IS SUED FOR ALIMONY

Mrs. Frances T. Doggett, a teacher in the public schools, today filed suit for limited divorce and alimony against Allen T. Doggett, a clerk employed in the United States shipping board.

Mrs. Doggett, who is represented by Attorneys Eugene A. Jones and C. R. Ahalt, alleges that her husband in-flicted cruelty upon her by assalling her good name and reputation, and that he has not contributed to her and their child's support since last June. The Doggetts were married in Annapolis, May 30, 1914. Their two-year-old son is in the mother's custody.
